To foster a simple and clean learning environment where faculty and students respect each other, the Yilan County Government organized a series of “Anti-gangsters, Anti-drug, and Anti-bully” events and activities in the first semester of the academic year of 2018 at the Luodong Junior High School on August 30, 2018. At a teacher-student anti-bullying oath-taking ceremony, teachers and students took an oath together to help students gain their understanding toward anti-bully, and say "no" to bully resolutely; this has emboldened the confidence of fighting against bully and the determination of developing a friendly schoolyard collectively.

The Luodong Junior High School Choir sang the song "Drugs Go Away and Music Purifies Our Heart" along with the playing of the flute recorder group to create positive vibe and to demonstrate their determination to eliminate the danger of drugs, so as to foster a more friendly and lively school environment and atmosphere. That was followed by another performance "I Am Not Afraid of Schoolyard Bully; Let's See How I Knock It Down Hard" by the Luodong

Junior High School Martial Arts Group; the powerful performance that combined strength and beauty and demonstrated the determination to fight against bully. In the end, through the performance of "Energetic and Enthusiastic Oath-taking to Anti-gangsters, Anti-drug, and Anti-bully" and "Balanced Focus on Health, Character, and Academic Performance; Live and Learn Happily and Pursue a Dream Bravely" Luodong Junior High School showcased its ultimate vision for its students. Hopefully, students will learn through a healthy body and positive mind. The oath-taking by the county government, the entire faculty, and students together has symbolized the hope of combining the strengths of the government, school, and community to develop a friendly and suitable learning environment. As such, students will pick up their skill and pursue their individual growth in a warm atmosphere as envisioned by their school. The ultimate hope is that students will become individuals who are motivated to learn and strive to do their best.

Liang-Qing Lin, Director of Division of Student Affairs and Campus Security, and Zheng-Hua Chen, Director of Education Department of Yilan County Government, joined faculty and students in the oath-taking ceremony to fight against gangsters, drugs, and bully, demonstrating the determination to eliminate the problems of bully, drugs, and gangsters. Director Liang-Qing Lin hopes that schools will provide the cleanest and safest learning environment for each student to learn and grow up happily in school and make sure every student will not suffer from any forms of bully and drugs while they are in school.
